BASKETBALL RUNS IN THE FAMILY.

Sinetra Jones is a rebounding and rim-protecting force in the paint, and basketball is in her blood — her father Anthony Jones played at Oral Roberts (1990–91) and her sister Manaya also played at ORU. Sinetra has carried that legacy from Memphis to Division I and now into professional basketball overseas.

PLAYER BIOGRAPHY

Sinetra Jones is a 6'3" center out of Memphis, Tennessee, whose game is defined by rebounding, rim protection, and interior scoring. After starring at Manassas High School, she took the JUCO route through Dyersburg State Community College before earning a Division I opportunity at Oral Roberts University and closing out her collegiate career at the University of Arkansas – Fort Smith.

Sinetra took her game overseas for the 2025–26 season, splitting time between Penza Peja and United Basketball in the Kosovo Superliga. She was a starting-five contributor for both clubs, and her production climbed sharply after her January 2026 move to United Basketball, where she averaged 16.1 points, 11.9 rebounds, 1.4 steals, and 1.6 blocks per game while shooting 52.2% from the field — numbers that ranked among the league's most productive frontcourt players.

A physical, high-energy center, Sinetra protects the rim, dominates the glass on both ends, and has already helped her club reach the Kosovo Cup and Kosovo Supercup semifinals in 2026.
