SIZE. TOUGHNESS. RIM PROTECTION.

Ethan Jones is a physical forward/center whose game has always been anchored in rebounding and shot-blocking. From the JUCO ranks to Fisk University and now professional basketball in Portugal, Ethan brings size and defensive presence to every frontcourt he's part of.

PLAYER BIOGRAPHY

Ethan Jones is a 6'8", 259 lb forward/center out of Memphis, Tennessee, built around rebounding, rim protection, and interior physicality. He developed his game over two seasons at Jackson State Community College before earning a Division I opportunity at Fisk University, where he was a two-year starter and one of the program's most productive rebounders and shot-blockers.

At Fisk, Ethan averaged a double-double pace as a junior (8.3 ppg, 11.1 rpg) and remained a defensive anchor as a senior, earning GCAC All-Defensive Team honors in 2022. He turned professional with the Jacksonville 95ers (TBL) in 2025, then moved overseas to Portugal, where he now plays for Club 5Basket Gondomar in the Portuguese 1ª Divisão.

A proven rebounder and rim protector at every level he's played, Ethan continues to develop his all-around game while anchoring the interior for his club in Portugal.
